

What does it mean to celebrate Pride?

Pride is all about being able to be who you really are. It is about sharing your world with others, and accepting people who are different to you. It is also a way to remember all the people who fought for the rights we have today, and to continue fighting for those who still are not able to be themselves

The theme of our assemblies have been noticing LGBT+ people where you might not think they would be – do you know of any other examples in addition to the above?
